

Proposed Work Program 2017/2018

Under the four pathways identified in the Theory of Change, the following program of work has been identified for 2017, and involvement in the following work will be for members only:

	Capability Pathway	Investment	Innovation	Influence
Goal	GLHAM has gained the credibility and understanding of member capacity in the sector, to broker effective collaborations and to catalyse novel partnerships within and across the sector.	GLHAM has positioned itself to harness collective opportunities for increased funding to members	GLHAM establishes itself as a trusted entity that has demonstrated its capacity to foster collaboration, learning and knowledge transfer across the global health sector in Melbourne	GLHAM is a go-to voice on global health and development policy and practice: GLHAM will have raised the profile of these issues and will provide thought leadership under the agreed thematic areas.
Measurement	Victoria's inaugural International Health Economic Impact Study is produced by GLHAM, which also showcases the capabilities of members, under the agreed thematic areas for 2017/2018 collaboration.	At least 1 opportunity for collective financial opportunities have been presented to members	At least 6 opportunities for collaboration, learning and/or knowledge transfer have been provided to members	GLHAM staff and Committee members will have been invited to participate actively in Federal and State government policy development. GLHAM's digital following will number at least 500.
